Greystanes couple injured in dog attack

7 March 2006

A man and woman have been injured after being set upon by their dog at Greystanes in Sydney's west.

The 28-year-old woman has told police she was feeding the German Shepherd about 7.30pm yesterday (Monday 6 March), when it bit her on the arm and leg. The woman's 41-year-old partner was also attacked by the animal after coming to her assistance. He sustained bite wounds to the left leg, both arms and neck.

The couple was taken by ambulance to Blacktown Hospital for treatment.

Police from Holroyd Local Area Command attended the scene and conducted inquiries. The dog was captured by a council ranger and taken to a local pound. The couple is expected to determine the animal's fate later today.
