WAPAKONETA, Ohio -- Police in western Ohio said a K-9 police dog attacked an officer today, biting him in the face.

A police report said the dog bit Officer Calvin Schneider as he leaned over the dog to open a door.

Police said Schneider suffered lacerations to his lower lip and on the bridge of his nose.

Wapakoneta police Lt. Barry Truesdale said this was the second biting incident involving the dog.

Schneider was treated at Joint Township District Memorial Hospital in St. Marys and was expected to be back on duty tomorrow.

Police said the dog, whose name is Adam, is under a 10-day quarantine.
