

Dogs Attack Man In North St. Louis County

created: 11/26/2007 10:54:51 AM updated: 11/26/2007 11:33:06 PM

KSDK - St. Louis County police are investigating after two dogs, described as American Bulldogs, attacked a man in a North St. Louis County home Monday morning.

Police say the man was visiting the home in the 2600 block of Lindhurst when the two dogs attacked him in a section of the yard fenced off for the dogs.

A neighbor saw the attack and got a gun, then shot the dogs. One dog died. The second was injured and is now in St. Louis County Animal Control custody.

The injured man was taken to a nearby hospital. There's no word on his condition, but police say the injuries are not considered life-threatening.

