Dog shot and killed by Jackson police officer

The Clarion-Ledger

A Jackson police officer shot and killed a dog this morning after the dog attempted to attack another police officer.

The shooting occurred in the 200 block of Championship Hill Drive in south Jackson.

The two officers were responding to neighbors' complaint about a dog running loose, according to police.

The mixed breed charged at one of the officers when he was shot, police said.

Neither of the officers were injured.
