A disturbing dog attack could lead to charges against two animal owners, authorities said.

Animal control officials said a Chow mix mauled and killed a 3-month-old Akita in Millville Wednesday.

The dog is now in a cage at the SPCA in Vineland and could be put to sleep.

"It was the most brutal attack I've ever seen," Bev Greco, executive director of the Cumberland County SPCA, said.

Greco said the attack happened early Wednesday morning in the back yard of 320 North 5th St.

She said one of the Chows that lived with several others in an adjacent house broke free and attacked the Akita.

Greco said the owners of the Chows, Henry and Lattice Davis, who have five dogs in all, face serious charges.

Animal control officials said it is possible that two Chow mixes that belonged to the Davis' were involved in the attack and they are investigating.

The owner of the Akita could face abandonment charges.

NBC 10 was not able to reach the dog owners for comment.
