Boy in hospital after dog attack

2:12PM Wednesday January 30, 2008

A young Christchurch boy was admitted to hospital today after being attacked and bitten by a dog.

The boy, believed to be aged 10, was taken to hospital by St John Ambulance with moderate to serious injuries after the attack at a Wharenui Rd property about noon, a St John spokesman confirmed this afternoon.

Christchurch City Council animal control officers were called to remove the dog from the property.
