A toddler has been seriously injured in a dog attack in Sydney's north west.

The two-year-old boy was attacked in Hobart Street at Riverstone around 4:30pm.

He has been taken to Westmead Children's hospital where he is being treated for serious bite wounds to his arms and legs.

The dog has been secured and is likely to be put down.

“ I think we can do without the photo of a dog snarling and looking savage. I think it's misleading and some people may think that it's an actual photo of the dog that's involved in this issue. ”
