

Thank you for using our printer friendly story page.

Return to story

Dog bites Oregon police officer

The Capital Times

April 15, 2009

McGruff might take a bite out of crime, but biting a police officer is a no-no.

Public health officials are looking for a large dog in Oregon who bit an officer Tuesday afternoon, after the officer tried to corral the canine running loose around the intersection of Oak and Brook Streets, near the police station.

The dog is either a husky or malamute, silver and gray in color, wearing tags and a collar.

Anyone with information about the dog can call the animal services officer at 255-2345 or Oregon police at 835-3111.

Return to story

madison.com is operated by Capital Newspapers, publishers of the Wisconsin State Journal, The Capital Times, Agri-View and Apartment Showcase. All contents Copyright ©2009, Capital Newspapers. All rights reserved.